THE PROBLEM WE SOLVE IN PAKISTAN

Pakistan's Christian minority (2.5M+) faces blasphemy laws routinely weaponized against believers — entire Christian villages have been burned by mobs. The State Bank of Pakistan scrutinizes all foreign transfers to religious organizations, especially those connected to Christian groups — accounts are frozen under "counter-terrorism" provisions without due process.

Dalit sanitation workers ("sweepers") in Punjab and Sindh, and brick kiln bonded laborers, are among Asia's most persecuted and educationally deprived communities. Foreign cash that becomes publicly visible can trigger mob violence and police inaction. GST provides complete invisibility.

WHY GST IS DIFFERENT IN PAKISTAN

Bypasses State Bank Monitoring

The State Bank of Pakistan scrutinizes foreign transfers to Christian organizations under counter-terrorism provisions. GST's utility token structure bypasses this monitoring layer entirely — no SWIFT transaction appears in SBP records.

Protects Pastors from Mob Targeting

Publicly visible foreign cash creates mob targets in Pakistan. GST pseudonymous wallets let pastors in Lahore, Karachi, and Faisalabad receive mission support without creating any financial paper trail that could be used to incite violence against them or their congregations.

Unburnable Credentials for Unburnable Faith

When mobs burn Christian villages, they burn paper certificates. NFT badges issued through GST exist permanently on the Ethereum blockchain — no mob, no government, no fire can destroy a Pakistani Christian's educational credentials.

Built by a 501(c)(3) Nonprofit

GetSmart Token is governed by the Digital Financial Aid Corporation — a US 501(c)(3). Its mission is education. Ours is serving Pakistan's persecuted. They align completely at getstoken.org.

Protection in Pakistan's Mission Field

- ✓ Invisible to State Bank of Pakistan monitoring — GST tokens bypass the SWIFT banking system used to surveil Christian organization funding flows
- ✓ No counter-terrorism freeze risk — utility token classification means GST transfers don't appear in the SBP's foreign religious organization reporting framework
- ✓ Pseudonymous wallets protect pastors — church leaders in Lahore and Karachi receive GST without creating identifiable foreign-funding records that mobs can use to target them
- ✓ NFT credentials cannot be burned — when Christian villages are attacked, blockchain certificates survive because they exist outside Pakistan's physical jurisdiction entirely
- ✓ Works in brick kiln communities and rural Punjab with minimal banking infrastructure — only requires a mobile phone and data signal through local Sponsor church leaders

🇵🇰 Pakistan — Land of the Pure: Why GST Is Strategically Essential Here

- ✦ Pakistan's blasphemy laws (Section 295-C of the Penal Code) carry the death penalty for insulting Islam — they are routinely weaponized against Christians in personal disputes, with accusations triggering mob violence before any trial occurs. Foreign funding visibility dramatically increases targeting risk for local church leaders.
- ✦ Pakistan's Dalit Christian community — sanitation workers, brick kiln laborers, and sweepers — are among Asia's most multiply-marginalized people: lowest caste, minority religion, extreme poverty, near-zero formal education. GST-funded literacy and vocational programs break this triple cycle of disadvantage.
- ✦ The State Bank of Pakistan actively monitors foreign transfers to Christian organizations under counter-terrorism frameworks. Accounts are frozen without due process. Wire transfers to churches have resulted in pastor arrests framed as "foreign-funded destabilization" — a charge that carries years of imprisonment.
- ✦ Pakistani diaspora Christians in the UK, UAE, Canada, and the US are deeply motivated givers who desperately want to support their home congregations — but fear that visible financial connections will endanger the families they left behind. GST's pseudonymous structure provides the protection that makes diaspora giving safe.

† Common Questions from Home Church Members †

"Could our giving trigger a blasphemy accusation?"

GST is specifically designed to eliminate this risk. No SBP-visible wire transfer appears connecting Western donors to Pakistani churches. The pseudonymous wallet structure means there is no financial paper trail that can be used to frame a pastor as a "foreign agent" receiving illegal funding.

"Can we give to a specific kiln worker family or Dalit village?"

Yes. Your missionary sets up named programs (e.g., "Lahore Sweeper Community School") and you send directly. Your dashboard shows real-time progress — transparent to you, invisible to Pakistani authorities.

"What if the church or school is burned?"

All credentials issued through GST — teacher certificates, student records, ministry awards — are stored permanently on the Ethereum blockchain. Even if every physical building is destroyed, every person's records survive. They can rebuild with proof of what they knew and who they served.

"Is the Pakistani diaspora using this already?"

GST is designed for exactly this diaspora-to-homeland structure. Pakistani Christians in the UK and UAE can use getstoken.org to send to verified home church Sponsors — with full accountability and zero dangerous paper trail for recipients inside Pakistan.
